Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

The Women for Music Society dates back to 1952 when a group of women met in the home of Mrs. Angus L. Macdonald to establish an auxiliary for the Halifax Symphony Orchestra. The organization was originally called the Women's Auxiliary of the Atlantic Symphony Inc. However, in 1983 the name changed to the present Women for Music Society, with a mandate to support and promote live performances of music and to assist with the ongoing work of Symphony Nova Scotia.

Scope and content

Fonds consists of minutes, correspondence, promotional materials, by-laws and amendments, reports, and financial statements. The contents of the fonds document the development of the organization and provide details about the areas of interest and focus of their work.

Notes

Title notes

Immediate source of acquisition

Donated by the Women for Music Society starting in 1997 with subsequent accruals in 2008 and 2011.

Arrangement

The original donation was arranged by the Women for Music Society primarily under the guidance of Alice MacIntosh.
